Board of Library Trustees

WILL LISTEN TO THE WILL OF THE VOTERS

The Board of Library Trustees Monday night, resolved to carry their proposal for a new library to the Special Town Meeting of October 25th, and to 'listen to the will of the voters'.

The vote was taken in the Public Library, and was after an hour and a half session with the Finance Committee, in which that committee had in essence asked the Library Trustees to either reduce their request or delay it for another year.

Fincom Dubious

The meeting with the Finance Committee, in the Roman House, found the members of that board very dubious about the chances of the town voting for a new library in October.

Chairman Dick Barry of the Fincom was using material prepared by a member of the Library Board of Trustees, several years ago, as he argued, and it was noted that the material was well thumbed.

Among the highlights!

Fincom member George Boylen told the Library Trustees that the people will be made to 'pay a lot of money for people yet unborn.'

Chairman Dick Barry said he hated to see the proposal go to the Town Meeting. He felt that the Board of Trustees would lose out, and asked that the proposal be withdrawn.

Chairman Ralph Kelman of the Board of Trustees told the Fincom that the Trustees felt it necessary to proceed, because there has been a million dollars allocated to Massachusetts this year, and Wilmington's Trustees had, by a lot of work, managed to get their application in to the Federal Government before the deadline.

He was dubious as to next year's chances, saying that he did not know how much money would be allocated, nor how many towns and cities would be seeking to divide that money for their libraries.

Philip Buzzell, Town Counsel and Library Trustee, spoke against underestimating the needs for the town.

Buzzell reminded the Fincom

New residents of Wilmington and others wishing to be registered as voters, have until 10 pm next Tuesday to become voters.

The law requires that for 20 days before a Town Meeting or election the Registration be closed, in order that the Board of Registrars may have time to compile an accurate list of voters for the meeting.

The Town Clerk will register new voters, in the Town Hall during regular business hours, today, Friday, Monday and Tuesday morning.

The Board of Registrars will be in the Town Hall from noon Tuesday until 10 pm., for the purpose of registering new voters.

that when Wilmington built the first half of the High School 'it wasn't anticipated that we would have to build the second half for 15 years'.

'Usually', he said, 'it is a mistake to underestimate the rate of growth, or to assume that our present population is going to remain static.'

A considerable period was devoted by Dick Barry in an effort to find that some of the planning could have been different, i.e. location of areas, etc. In the main he was unsuccessful, with Mrs. Larz Nelson joining Ralph Kelman in giving reasons for the decisions to Barry.

Ralph Biggar of the Finance Committee compared Wilmington's proposed costs with Burlington's, and said it made a person 'throw his hands up in horror'.

Carl Gubellini, Finance Committee, exploring as to the reasons for the construction costs, was told that the entire library would be air conditioned. The cost for this, he was told, was $4.50 a square foot, in construction.

Fred Arsenault, also of the Finance Committee, told the Board of Trustees that Belmont had built a 31,000 square foot library at a cost of $761,000, or $21 a square foot, and that there was space for 100,000 volumes.

Mrs. Nelson said that she and others had been through that library, inspecting it, and that the architect was Kellam, Hopkins, & Brodie, whom the Board of Trustees had interviewed.

The Belmont Library, she said, was air conditioned only in the main reading room.

Dr. Wallent, Library Trustee, made a personal disclaimer on the high costs of construction, and said he wanted to see the Board of Trustees 'free of the choice that had been made'.

Ralph Kelman, Chairman of the Board of Trustees, did most of the talking for the library group.

The program that had been laid out, Kelman said, called for a calling of bids on January first, and completion of the new Library on March 31, 1967.

PROPOSED LIBRARY
FOR THE TOWN OF WILMINGTON
JOHN GUARINO, A.I.A. ARCHITECT
BOSTON, MASS.

ARCHITECT'S DRAWING: Of the proposed new Public Library. The Board of Library Trustees hopes to have this building erected on the site of the old St. Thomas Church, on Middlesex Avenue.

Ten articles for the Town Meeting

Up to Wednesday the Board of Selectmen had ten articles for the Warrant for the Special Town Meeting of October 25th.

Eight of the articles were in the hands of the Selectmen Monday night, and were the subject of a discussion during the Selectmen's executive session. The other two came from Planning Board action on Tuesday night.

Two of the articles are for new school sites, at the request of the Permanent Building Committee, and one of these has already become controversial.

The owner of a twenty acre lot of land at the corner of Shawsh avenue and Hopkins Street does not want to have his land taken for school sites, and has already taken deposits for the sale of four lots of land, in a proposed division of that portion of the land near Shawsh sheen Avenue.

The other site proposed by the PBC is a six acre one, in back of the Whitefield School.

One of the key issues of the town meeting will be the proposal for a

Regional Vocational School, probably to be located in Burlington, but possibly anywhere almost in

Wilmington, Tewksbury, Burlington, Billerica or Bedford.

Another article, already controversial, is the construction proposal, at a cost of $886,400, of a new public library.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Wilmington Skating Club are requesting a change in the lease of the old South School, so that both organizations may be operating the old building, now leased to the Skating Club. This is not expected to be controversial.

The four zoning articles, and the proposal of the Wilmington Planning Board for adoption of Chapter 40A of the General Laws are published elsewhere in this issue of the Town Crier.

Girard: Yes.

McKie: What other laterals are there?

Girard: We have one to the Diamond Salt Company, one on Grove Avenue to South Street, one on Glen Road, and three or four others.

McKie: Are there any others in North Wilmington?

Girard: No

McKie: Are there any others to the Southern Industrial Area?

Girard: Yes. There's one that ends at the junction of routes 129 and 38, and one that is scheduled to go to Polyvinyl Chemical.

Mrs. McKie then stated that she was concerned about the prospects of having an open ditch on Woburn Street, fearing that it would be a hazard to the school children. Girard assured Mrs. McKie that there would be police on duty while the children were walking, and that no section of the ditch would be left open over night.

Selectman Black said that if the permit were granted, he would like to have the Town Manager oversee the work as it progresses. Niles agreed, saying, 'We could have a dangerous situation on such a narrow street as Woburn Street.'

Niles then asked if the work couldn't be postponed until the spring. Girard answered that if the town were so concerned about creating a hazardous situation during the winter months, then Lowell Gas would plan to start work immediately and be 'in and out of there in three weeks'.

Bender then moved that the permit be denied with the recommendation that it be re-submitted in the spring.

'The work presents too great a hazard in the winter,' Bender said. Niles and LaRivee voiced their agreement with this position and the vote to deny was 3 to 0.

When Mrs. Drew said 'I think you're being very shortsighted', Niles retorted, 'I think Lowell Gas is being shortsighted in not applying earlier.' And Bender added, 'shortsighted for Lowell Gas, but longsighted for the town.' Mr. Black did not vote.

Jury Pool

The names of Amy Malone of 26 Grant Street, and Wilfred J. Muse of 48 Aldrich Road were drawn for the Jury Pool in Cambridge, November 1.

Evans Fence

A letter from Town Counsel Philip Buzzell was read regarding the obligations incumbent upon the town for damage to a fence on property formerly belonging to Robert Evans, but since sold.

Buzzell said that the town had no 'moral obligation' to compensate Evans. The Selectmen recommended that Buzzell, Evans, and TM Henneberger meet together in an attempt to resolve the matter.

H. Richard George

A note was received from H. Richard George, thanking the Board for appointing him an Associate Member of the Board of Appeals, and assuring them that he would serve to the best of his abilities.

Zoning Law Enforcement

A letter from the Planning Board was read asking the Selectmen to take action on an illegal sign on Lowell Street.

Henneberger said that the letter should have been sent to him, and told the Board that a concerted effort was being made by himself, Building Inspector Minot Anderson, and Police Chief Paul Lynch to enforce the zoning laws.

'Many letters have been sent,' Henneberger said, 'and this may result in some litigation.'

No Names

The matter of appointments to the Power Committee came up again, and LaRivee, Black, and Mrs. Drew still had come up with no names for nomination.

It was agreed that each Selectman could nominate more than one person, and the matter was tabled until next week.

TM's Report

TM Henneberger reported that, according to the law, the Selectmen may create 'No Parking' zones where ever they feel it necessary.

Observer Felice Vitale said that parking was still a problem on Woburn Street next to Avco. Henneberger said that an effort was being made to correct this situation and the Police are tagging cars illegally parked in that area.

Henneberger reported that there is $67,200 left in Chapter 90 monies for Ballardvale Street, and that this money will be used for continued repairs on that street. For Burlington Avenue, there is $89,200 available in Chapter 90 monies. Henneberger said it may become necessary to stagger the Burlington Avenue project over several years as the Chapter 90 monies become available.

On the question of eliminating an obstruction at the Shawsheen-Auburn intersection, Henneberger said it would cost the town $2,500 to remove a rock obstruction. He recommended a thorough tree cutting and brush removal to alleviate, though not completely resolve, the problem.

Park Street Bridge

Several women residents of the Park Street area appeared before the Board to find out what is being done about replacing the fencing on the Park Street bridge.

The bridge, without fencing, is considered to be a serious hazard to school children, and falls under the jurisdiction of the state highway department.

Last year the town put up a snow fence for safety, which the state highway department removed this summer. Since then the anxious residents have been awaiting restoration of the fence by the highway department.

The Selectmen assured the ladies present at the meeting that they were doing everything they could, and that a meeting of the state highway officials had been scheduled for this Wednesday to decide what kind of fence will be put up.

Letter

Dear Larz,

In reply to Deborah Russell's letter as to why there is no theatre in Wilmington. Speaking as the Assistant Manager of one of Boston's major theatres, I am able to see how this privilege is abused. Companies are reluctant to establish neighborhood theatres because of the vandalism which occurs in them. Whenever there are pent up adolescent emotions, a certain amount of destruction is to be expected.

Looking around the various towns you will find most of these neighborhood theatres on their last legs. This is because they cannot keep up with the vandalism that occurs nightly. In short, the theatre industry would indeed be losing money by establishing in a rural area.

Yours truly,

Matthew M. O'Brien

That was the trouble in the Wilmington Theatre.

TOWN NOTES

Holiday

Henry Porter, Postmaster of Wilmington, is taking a holiday. That leads to all sorts of stories. There are those who say that Henry has gone down to see the World's Fair.

And there are those who say that Henry is doing more than that - that he is getting ready to retire, and this is his last vacation.

But Allick Epstein, who is President of Louie's Oil, has a different version. Allick is also the President of Temple Shalom.

It's the High Holidays, Allick says - 'Why shouldn't Henry take a vacation?'

Funny Thing

A funny thing happened Tuesday evening, at the meeting of the Wilmington Housing Authority.

There were five members present for a change. Somehow it is difficult to get all five there at the same time - this was the first time in months. Jim Donahue, of course, was the chairman.

There were two vacancies, in the apartments in the Old Age Housing, and there were a number of candidates for those apartments.

Charlie Burt, the newest member, a few months ago, suggested a 'point' system, in voting to fill the vacancies.

Each member would list several candidates on a piece of paper. If four was to be listed (as was the case Tuesday) the first to be named would receive four points, the second three, the third two, and the last one.

The system was devised to be the fairest way of voting in the candidates.

The one with the most 'points' of course would be the lucky candidate, or, when there were two vacancies, the top two in points.

So, Tuesday night when the ballots were counted it was discovered that one of the members had voted for the same candidate four times! Charlie is still doing a Slow Burn

Rifles

Thieves, two weeks ago, broke in the Legion Hall, and stole the rifles with which the Legionnaires parade on such days as Memorial Day.

It was the second time that the local post has been so robbed. Some twenty years ago the Civil War rifles donated by John Simpson, GAR, last Civil War veteran in Wilmington, were stolen.

The rifles that were stolen two weeks ago were not, of course, of Civil War vintage.

There were a dozen, and what the thieves do not know is that some of those guns had been 'altered'.

It cannot be detected by a casual observation, even an inspection of the gun barrel, but half of the rifles which Post 136 had will blow up, if fired with live ammunition.

In other words there is a real danger that someone might be hurt, for those rifles are saluting rifles only.

And a Missing Map Comedy

Planning Bd wants to 'Unzone'

The Planning Board, Tuesday night, in its regular meeting, moved to rezone land in North Wilmington from Industrial to its former status of Rural.

At the suggestion of its newest member, Madelyn McKie, the board unanimously submitted an article for the Town Meeting of October 25th which would have the town vote to rezone large areas of land on both sides of Route 125, and on both sides of Andover Street.

The land was zoned 'rural' until about six years ago, when the then Town Manager and Selectmen, in a surprise and somewhat secretive move, asked a special town meeting to rezone large areas of North Wilmington into 'Industrial' in the vague hope of inducing industrial firms to locate there. The town meeting complied, in the belief that there was a basis for the move, but only one small firm located in Wilmington as a result, and it has since left town.

After that town meeting of six years ago, the Planning Board, realizing that it had been misled, reserved to 'Never Again' recommend rezoning on the type of hopeful thinking prevalent at that time.

Mrs. McKie told the other members of the board (only four were present, with Miceli having sent a message that he could not attend because of some unspecified accident) that she had felt for a long time that it was an injustice to the people of Wilmington to have that large area in North Wilmington zoned for industry, on vague hopes.

The rezoning of six years ago was characterized in the Town Crier as the 'Lightning Might Strike Rezoning'. As proposed by the Planning Board, Tuesday night, not all of the land that was made industrial six years ago will be rezoned to rural, principally because there had not been time to prepare an adequate article for the town meeting.

Chapter 40A

Mrs. McKie also moved, and it was unanimously voted, to submit an article for the Town Meeting, to have the town adopt Chapter 40A of the General Laws. Chapter 40A is that section of the General Laws which prohibits the owner or sponsor of a rezoning article which has failed of passage, in a town meeting, to bring it in to another town meeting for two years, without the express approval of the Planning Board.

Missing Maps

With the Town Engineer now in the Town Garage, most of the town's business being conducted in the Town Hall, and the Planning Board meeting, at last, 'in a home of its own' at the Middlesex County Bank Building, mix-ups can be expected to happen, and they did Tuesday night.

Two maps disappeared, somehow, on Tuesday, and were not available for the Planning Board meeting.

One of the maps had been submitted by the Jackson Brothers, and was for land in the area of Nichols Street and Shawsheen Ave.

Fred Jackson and Town Engineer Alphonse Savignac searched for that map for over an hour, with two trips to the Town Garage, but were unable to find it. Jackson shrugged it off, saying that 'it will turn up'.

The other map submitted was of a more serious nature.

It had been brought to the Town Clerk Tuesday, for a 'time-stamp' by a brother of James V. DeCarolis of Tewksbury, and was presumed to have been locked up in the town safe, for the night.

Mr. DeCarolis, who arrived late at the Planning Board meeting, was quite perturbed. He believed that the plan should have been given to the Planning Board, for their action, and made several disturbing remarks about the fact. At one time he asked if the Police Department might have a town hall key.

De Carolis owns 20 acres of land, at the corner of Shawsheen Avenue and Hopkins Street. This is one of the two sites which the Permanent Building Committee seeks to acquire in the October 25th Town Meeting, for a future school, and Supt. of Schools Harold Shea has described this to the Planning Board as being 'The Key Site, for West Wilmington'.

De Carolis was told by the chairman that the town was planning to acquire the land.

He told Rounds, the chairman, that he had already sold four of the six houselots he had planned to front on Shawsheen Avenue. It was more important for him, he said, to sell as houselots instead of as a school. The missing plan was for those six houselots, which De Carolis wanted the Planning Board to sign, under the 'No Approval Needed' clause governing such signatures.

De Carolis had with him two plans for two lots (one plan for each lot) each 60,000 square feet, on Hopkins Street. There was nothing on the plans to indicate the distance between the lots, and the Planning Board refused to sign, under the circumstances. They told De Carolis that the Civil Engineer who had prepared the plans knew better than to prepare plans in such a manner, and De Carolis agreed.

De Carolis waited about half an hour for the Town Engineer to return with Fred Jackson from their search for Jackson's plan, to be sure that his plan was not available. He was told when Savignac and Jackson returned that Savignac, the engineer, had not seen the plan.

Other Business

A P Rounds of Stoneham, developer of Hathaway Acres, was in for a brief discussion of the last part of his development, concerning water, etc. The Town Engineer is to compute the cost of the bond that Mr. Rounds will have to supply, before he can begin construction of the streets in this last section.

Chargers top Revere

In a game marred by 16 fumbles the Wilmington Chargers Pop Warner Football Team defeated Revere 22 to 6 at the high school field.

In the 1st period, the Chargers fumbled and in 5 plays Revere marched 35 yards with Jim Fezzure going around his left end from 16 yards out for a 6 pointer. The extra points were missed.

Fumbles played a key part in this half as Wilmington fumbled 4 times and Revere, 6 times. Each recovered their own fumbles only once.

The 2nd half found an aroused Charger team scoring 3 times while holding Revere scoreless.

Midway through the 3rd period, the Chargers marched 35 yards only to fumble on the 3 yard line with Revere recovering. Revere cracked the line, and on the 2nd try, the Chargers recovered a Revere fumble.

In the 1st play from scrimmage, Dick Gillis went around left end for the score. The two pointer was added when Steve Catalano found Bruce MacInnes in the end zone.

In the start of the 4th period with the Chargers leading 8 - 6, Sid Tildsley intercepted a Revere pass and returned it 10 yards. With 26 yards to go for a TD, Gillis went 10 yards, Esposito 6 yards, Everett 7 yards and finally Esposito, for the score. The points after were missed on a pass attempt.

With the score now 16 - 6, Wilmington kicked off to Revere. Revere couldn't move the ball, and the Chargers took over on the mid-field stripe. Dick Gillis went 25 yards in 2 carries and then Steve Catalano found Mike Esposito streaking down the left sideline with a pass and another 6 points. The final 2 points were established by a pass from Steve Catalano to Bill Gustus.

Friday night, Wilmington will travel to Melrose (also undefeated) for a game under the lights, starting at 7:30 pm.

Plymouth Fury

If you've been holding out for a low-price car with beauty and power, see the '66 Plymouth Fury.

Then put your foot down.

Put your foot down and demand one of Fury's 22 models for '66. Maybe one with the big standard 318-cu.-in. V-8. Or choose from three optional V-8s up to a big new, 4-barrel 440-cubic-incher.

Fury's list of standard equipment has grown this year. For instance, a padded instrument panel is standard now on every Fury. So are variable-speed windshield wipers with windshield washer. Back-up lights. Outside left rearview mirror. And new safety door handles.

As for options, naturally there's a host of them just waiting for you to say the word. The word is "yes."

Say it to your Plymouth Dealer soon.

Sigfrid Olson was the host

Sigfrid Olson, of Lowell Street, the owner of the Olson Greenhouses, grows carnations. He is a member of the New England Carnation Growers Association, and takes part in its activities.

Six years ago, on a visit to Sweden, Mr. Olson obtained a 'slip' of a carnation known as 'White Scania', which had been developed by Leonard Hakanson, of Billeberga, Skania, Sweden. He put the White Scania on the market in 1962, two years after he had given the 'slip' to Olson.

Yesterday, Hakanson was able to see what Olson had done with that slip of a White Scania. There was a whole bed, in one of Olson's greenhouses completely filled with the White Scania.

Hakanson was part of a party of Scandinavian carnation growers, about 40, who were touring the United States, observing the latest in this country in carnation growing.

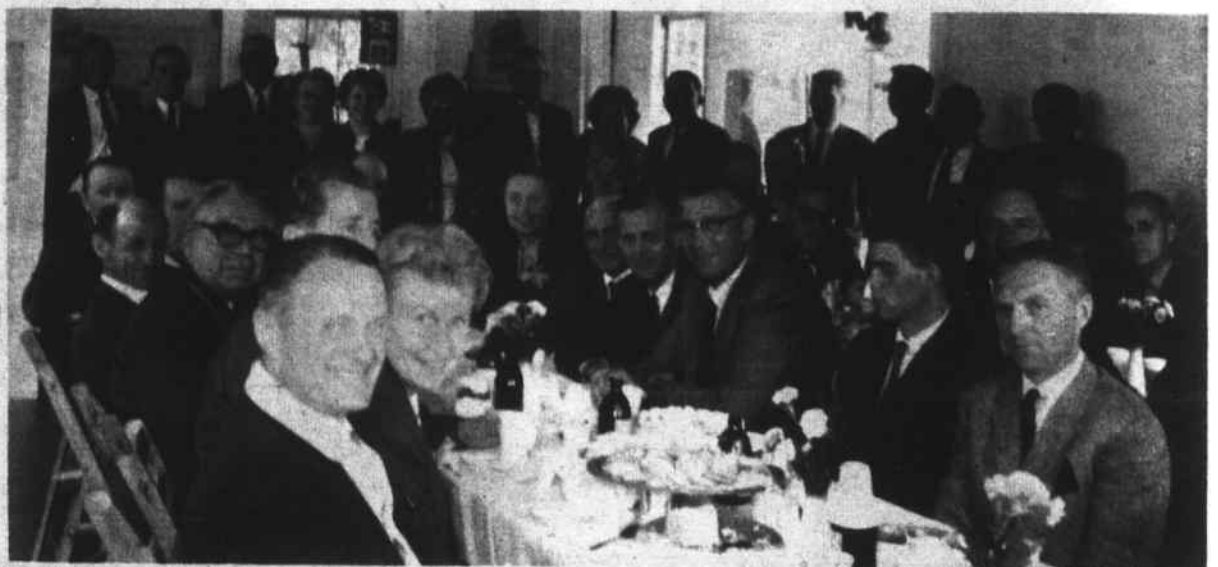

The group flew from Stockholm to Los Angeles, across the North Pole, and arrived at Los Angeles on September 6th. They are now in Middlesex County, and visited two green houses in Tewksbury and one in Lexington, after having been the guests of the Olsons. They leave for Sweden again, on Sunday.

Included in the group are the presidents of the Danish Carnation Growers, the Swedish Carnation Growers Association, and members of the Norwegian and Finnish organizations.

SIGFRID AND FRIENDS: With the White Scania Carnation, in the Olson Greenhouses, yesterday afternoon.

INTERNATIONALLY MINDED CARNATION GROWERS: At a smorgasbord, served yesterday noon in the Olson Greenhouses packing room. Mr and Mrs Sigfrid Olson may be seen standing, in back, center

It isn't the humidity, its the air conditioning

PBC Meeting

The Permanent Building Committee meeting of Monday started with the architect, John Guarino, citing the Woburn Street school as being an excellent example of brick work.

Guarino then informed the committee that Mr McNiff, planner for the new library, had approved the construction plans for the library. Ray McClure asked if the estimates were 'professional cost estimates' and Guarino assured him that they were.

Then followed a discussion of building costs. Michelson reminded the committee that the air conditioning was a large item to consider, in the costs for the library, and that it wasn't fair to compare too closely school building costs with library building costs.

Schools, he said, are built as a town progresses, depending on the rate of urban development, while the proposed library is to be built for a projected population which may double in the next 20 years.

Guarino told the committee that the building cost per square foot without air conditioning is estimated at $21.50 a square foot, which is within the average library building cost in this part of Massachusetts.

Ray McClure asked for the reason that the air conditioning is so costly. Michelson told him that it was because there was a large open area, not single rooms.

Michelson reported to the committee that the legal descriptions were prepared, and the articles submitted, for the purchase of two new school sites, in the coming town meeting.

He read letters regarding remedies for correcting grades and drainage problems at the Woburn Street School, and compaction tests at the West Intermediate School site.

The committee voted to prepare a brochure, on the proposed public library, for the town meeting.

The committee also voted that the PBC would meet on alternate Mondays beginning Sept. 27th. The next meeting is to be held on Oct. 11th.

There was a lengthy discussion on future school sites, which was followed by a short one on flag poles. Mr. Shea, Supt. of Schools, is anxious to have the flag flown at the Woburn Street School.

Someone mentioned that it would be a 'dandy' project for one of the town civic organizations.

According to Fred Jaeschke, Supt. of Public Buildings, the cost for a nice flag pole would be about $300. $100 was appropriated some time ago, and $200 more is needed to complete the job.

The meeting adjourned at 9:25pm

POPULATION EXPLOSION AND BIRTH CONTROL

Mr. John Theodore Luebberts, a Medical Detail Representative with a leading pharmaceutical corporation, will present a program entitled, 'The Population Explosion and Birth Control' in the Fellowship Hall of the Wilmington Methodist Church on Wednesday evening, October 6th at 8pm.

The public is invited to this program which is sponsored by the Commission on Christian Social Concerns.

Mr. Luebberts' work requires a high degree of specialized medical and technical training. The company with which he is associated leads the industry in the research and development of modern birth control methods. The purpose of the program is to give an informative survey of modern problems of mushrooming population and birth control.

The church is located at 89 Church Street.

PLANNING BOARD

A Mrs. Catalini, her husband, her sister, and her sister's husband spent half an hour with the board discussing the old Costa lot, off Ballardvale Street.

A right of way goes through the lot, to Upton Court, at Andover Street. The two couples have owned the land since 1952, and they seek to divide it into two equal pieces, each 8.91 acres in area. There is only about 108 feet, for frontage, for the piece of land, on Ballardvale Street. The proposed division line bisected the property from a point midway on the Right of Way.

It was explained that the Planning Board, under the law, could not sign such a plan, based on a Right of Way. The street should be an accepted street, or a proposed street, but not a Right of Way. Their only recourse they were told, was the Board of Appeals.

Arthur Spear, of Burlington Avenue, was in with a proposal for a Recreational area, in back of his home, the former Bedell home. He had plans for a swimming pool, baseball field, recreation hall, etc. His visit was more informative than anything else, and he said he was visiting other boards, too. The plan is to operate the area as a Day Camp for eight weeks during the summer.

John Tonnello, of Tewksbury, owner of the Marcia Road extension was in for about an hour, at about 11 pm. The board voted to authorize a reduction of his bond, from $13,000 to $10,600, after a long hassle. Tonnello's construction for the new road, according to figures made last Tuesday night by Danny Gillis, was about $44,000. He had put in water mains, and other work, before he bonded the road, which was by a bank deposit. For the past four or five weeks he has been visiting the board, seeking a decision on a partial return on his deposit, because of part completed work.

The discussion was complicated by the fact that Chairman Austin Rounds had been asked by some of the residents of the area, to let them know, so that they could be present to ask questions, a rather difficult thing to do at 11 pm. The Town Engineer had written a letter saying that the drainage ditch from Marcia Road to North Street had been cleaned up satisfactorily. The letter enumerated the costs of the uncompleted portions of the development, which totaled $10,600.

The first vote was two to two, with James Banda and Madelyn McKie voting against authorizing any release on the bond. Mrs. McKie said she voted as she did because she was uncertain.

After half an hour's hassle, Mrs. McKie moved for reconsideration, and the vote this time was 3 to 1, with Banda still voting against.

The board voted to ask the Town Counsel to take action against a bonding company, for a $1,000 bond on Baland Road.

The road, off Ballardvale Street, was constructed nearly ten years ago, but never quite finished. Letters in recent months have enquired about the bond.

The Town Engineer informed the Board that there were two pine trees, and a stone wall, at the entrance to the road, not on the travelled way, but within the laid out portion, which the abutments wanted to preserve. One of the pine trees, he said, was quite large (holding out his arms in the same manner as a fisherman describing the fish that got away).

The road was not in too good a condition, Savignac said, and should be fixed up.

Danny Gillis said that if the trees were not cut down, and the stone wall removed, the street could not be accepted. Savignac replied that this was the way the people wanted it.

The vote to request the action towards foreclosing on the bond was unanimous.

Concord St. Rezoning Proposal

One of the articles for the coming town meeting will seek to rezone land between Concord and Park Sts to Industrial.

The filing of the article, Monday night, revealed a tightly held secret of some months, known to many people in Wilmington, all of whom have kept silent.

Practically all the land between the two streets is owned by a corporation known as Carl Realty Inc. The corporation has been buying land in the area for months,

It seeks to establish a zone for Light Industry, in perhaps 150 or more acres of land, accessible to Rte 93 through the Concord Street interchange.

One of the first buildings to be erected, if the land is rezoned, will be a furniture manufacturing, processing and warehousing building of 100,000 feet or more. It will be built for the Barbo Brothers of Stoneham, well known Furniture Stores.

There are about five other firms which have indicated more than interest in locating in the area, and are awaiting the action of the town meeting. All are of high caliber, in electronic and data processing, and one is engaged in research.

If the land is rezoned, the Carl Realty Inc. company plans to start developing immediately. They will keep the buildings to be erected controlled, as to design, to conform to the general plans for the area. Streets are to be built to give the new business firms a choice of any particular sized acreage.

Six men own Carl Realty Inc., which has as its address 10 Depot Square, Lexington.

Three of these are the Barbo Brothers, owners of the furniture company. President Leonard Barbo is also president of Carl Realty Inc.

Anthony Tambone, President of the Surety Trust & Bank Company, of Wakefield, Reading and Tewksbury, is one of the owners.

The fifth owner is Anthony Cataldo, Executive Vice President of the Depositors Trust Company, and Frank Dardene, Esq. of Somerville is the sixth owner.

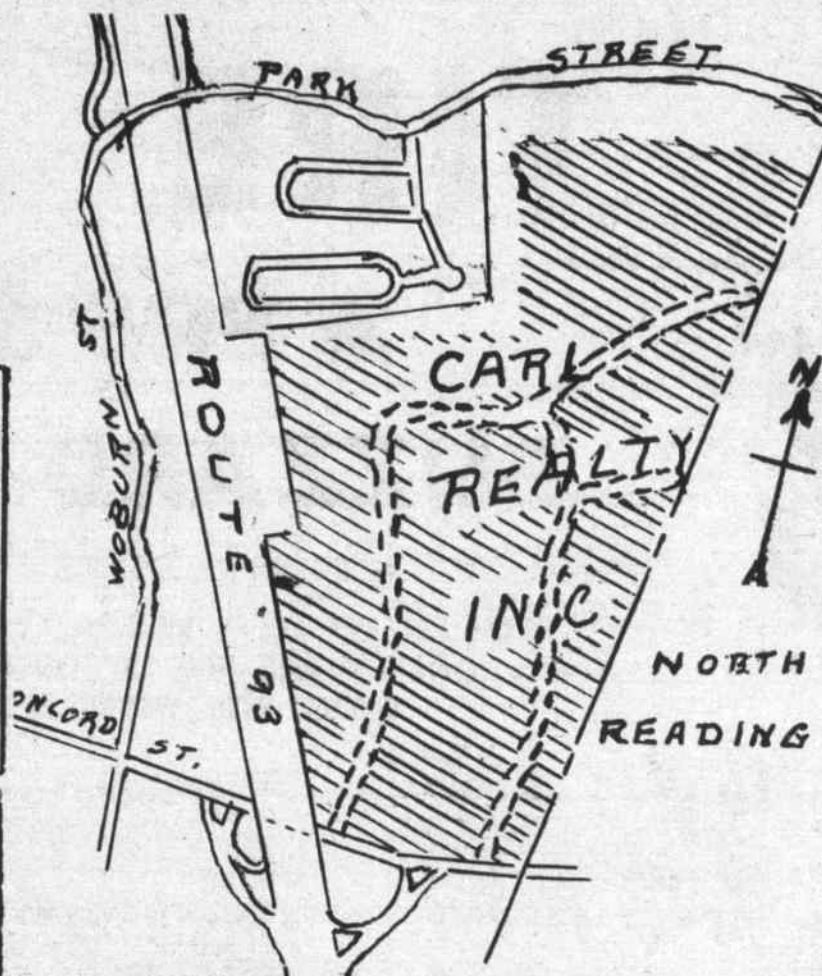

LAURA McCABE IS SENIOR AT WESTBROOK COLLEGE

Laura Lee McCabe the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. McCabe, Woburn Street, has returned to Westbrook Junior College for her senior year.

EDDIE JOHANAN JOINED US AIR FORCE

Eddie Johanan, son of Mr and Mrs Eddie Johanan, Burlington Ave has enlisted in the US Air Force and is now at Lackland AFB in Texas, undergoing recruit training. His address is Flt 1255, Box 1511, 3711 BMTS, Lackland AFB Texas.

A 1965 graduate of Wilmington High School, Edie is a well known SCUBA Diver, and, before enlistment, was president of the Aquanaut Club, and the Fractured Slippers.

PROPOSED INDUSTRIAL PARK: Between Concord and Parks Sts. The area with diagonal lines is proposed to be rezoned, and the areas in white, near Park Street and Gowing Acres, is to be left as a Buffer Zone.

The Mayor has Gone

George Spanos, Honorary Mayor of Wilmington, has gone.

The most notable figure in Wilmington, in an amateur fashion, for the past thirty years, is now living in a Tewksbury rest home. He moved up there yesterday afternoon.

George, a native of Salonika, Greece, appeared in Wilmington before World War I, and built a home on Glen Road, near the present Drury Lane.

He ran, for a while, a candy stand, near the High School, and about 1935 he established a restaurant in Wilmington Square which became the informal headquarters for many of the younger set of Wilmington.

The restaurant was not pretentious, but as the young people of Wilmington set off for their duty with the Armed Forces, in World War II, they would stop in and get a good-by from George. The walls of that restaurant became lined with pictures - hundreds of them, Wilmington boys and girls serving with Uncle Sam.

And any soldier or sailor who came into George's, during the war, never paid for a cup of coffee.

It was always 'on the House'. George was not a rich man, but he never accepted a dime from anyone in Uncle Sam's uniform, for coffee.

He became justly famous, and was dubbed 'The Mayor of Wilmington'. The New York Times wrote a story about George, and sports stars and politicians who were going through Wilmington always stopped in to have their picture taken with the old Greek. Mrs. Edith Nourse Rogers, Member of Congress, was in the restaurant many times, as well as Governors of Massachusetts, and Senators and Representatives, too.

George was most vociferous in his support of the local teams. He always attended the home games of the football team, so much so that it was noticed by many that he was not on the bench, last Saturday, when Andover was hosted by Wilmington.

In the days when the Wilmington Skating Club was the Home of the Champions, and thousands of Wilmington fans would go to the Boston Garden to watch the Wilmington skaters on the ice, at the annual Golden Skates, it was George Spanos who took care of the tickets, in three days, on one occasion, and he would be prominent on the special trains that took the fans to the Garden for the events.

But, as it must to all, Time crept up on George. He got older, he had to close his restaurant, and eventually he retired to the Housing for the Elderly, on Deming Way.

Yesterday was his last day in Wilmington. He had become quite feeble. Some of the ladies in the project were feeding him, for he had difficulty in taking care of himself.

The time had come for George. He left, about 2 pm, in a car driven by one of his old friends, Officer John Ritchie of the Wilmington Police. The Mayor had gone.
